General Discussion

WIMS Protocol
Resolved issue relative to operation of proxies and forwarding actions in a Schedule. Think of Schedule as a delayed command list. Implementations are free to decompose and treat, basically, as a macro. Implementations may want to manage their downstream triggers for timely response. Caching of state and recent counters from downstream entities is allowed and encouraged as long as the result is substantively the same as what would have been achieved from forwarding the scheduled action.

Schema
Ira listed all the changes he has made to the schema as a result of recent changes in WIMS.

Last Call – Formal Approval
All WIMS Last Call comments have been addressed and we are now ready to prepare documents for Formal Approval. We need a call for patents prior to Formal Approval.
